

H.E. Ambassador Luis Gallegos Chiriboga
Permanent Representative of Ecuador to the United Nations office in Geneva

Dear Ambassador Gallegos Chiriboga,

We would like to congratulate you on your appointment as Ecuador's ambassador to the United Nations in Geneva, which encompasses the role of Chair-Rapporteur of the United Nations Open-ended intergovernmental working group (IGWG) on transnational corporations and other business enterprises with respect to human rights (IGWG). We wish you success in your new duties which include the continuation of the work on the elaboration of an international legally binding instrument on transnational corporations and other business enterprises with respect to human rights.

As European organisations who are working in support of the UN treaty on business and human rights, we are looking forward to a fruitful collaboration between the working group and civil society. Many of us have supported the work on resolution 26/09 from the very beginning and have undertaken many different activities – including research, advocacy, and mobilization - to ensure that the EU changed its position from being publicly against the work on the UN binding treaty to obtaining a mandate to engage in the discussions at the IGWG. It is no coincidence that our campaign for the UN treaty coincided with the campaign against free trade agreements such as TTIP and CETA; the primacy of human rights over trade and investment treaties, which is emphasized in the elements paper is very important to many of us.

The treaty process is at an important stage, set to move from a three-year consultation phase towards negotiations of substantive text for the treaty. It is therefore crucial to have a clear path forward, which will lead to a zero draft for negotiation.

We call on your leadership, in your capacity as Chair-Rapporteur of the IGWG, to ensure a transparent, inclusive, and expeditious roll-out of the informal consultations agreed upon during the third working group session in October 2017 and presentation of a zero draft in June 2018.

Complementary to these consultations, we will continue to disseminate information and expertise which can contribute to the development of a strong treaty text.

We look forward to continue cooperating with the working group and other states, towards the common goal of realizing an effective binding instrument to prevent, prosecute, and remedy business-related human rights abuses.
